I RAGAZZI DEL QT8

In the late 1940s, something quite incredible happened in the Design world. An experiment urbanization project in Milan headed by architect Piero Bottoni invited design and architecture heavyweights to create a new district from the artificial hill made from the debris of the buildings that had collapsed during the war. QT8 developed from an experimental urbanization project that was conceived during the 8th edition of the Triennale di Milano design exhibition that was held in 1947

The project was titled QT8 for Quartiere Triennale 8, but the district is also simply referred to as Quartiere 8.
